QUADRUPLE HELIX MODEL IN REGIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Through the mobilization of all sectors of society with the utilization of living labs, the best outcome can be achieved.

With the inputs of all stakeholder, matters such as: production chains, regional development, innovation and others can be accommodated.

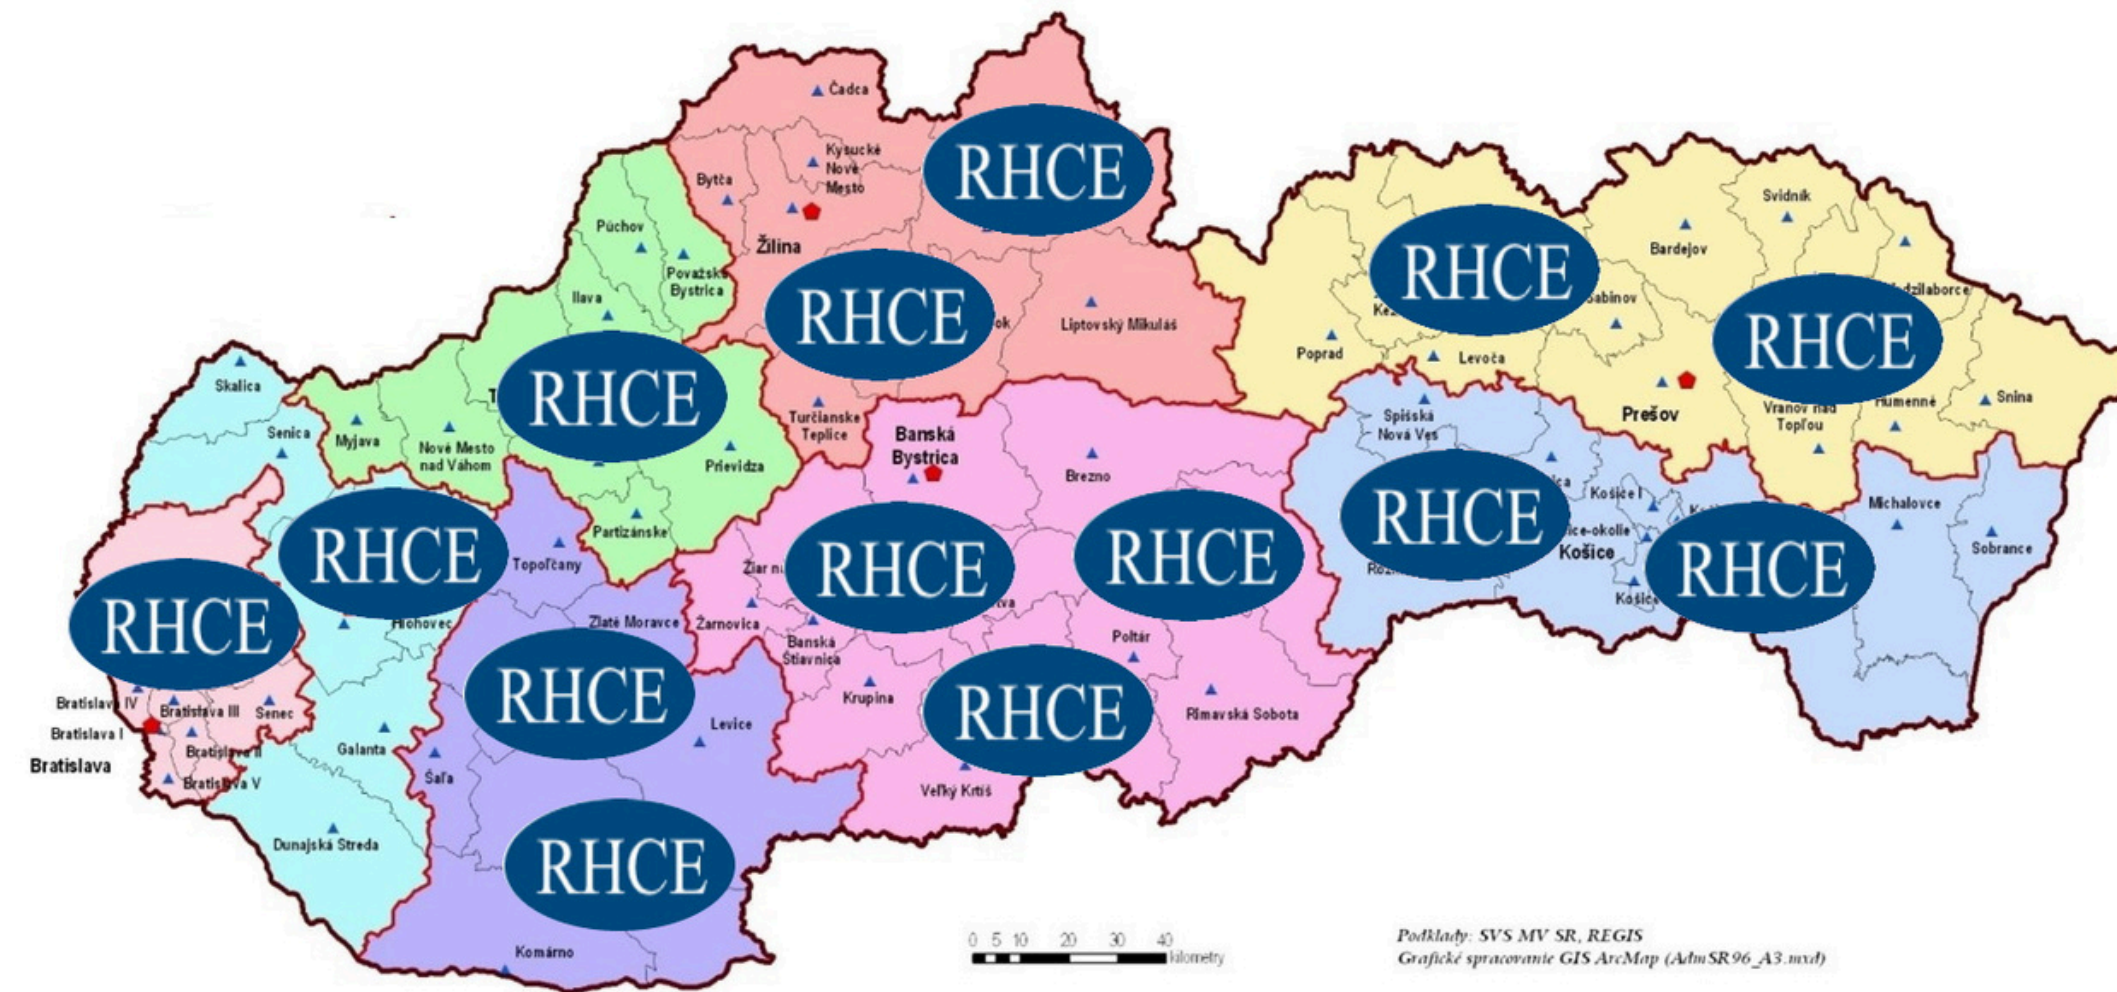

NARA-SK acts as the connecting element, bring all the parties together.

REGIONAL HUBS OF CIRCULAR ECONOMY - RHCE

ON A COMMON PLATFORM THROUGHOUT SLOVAKIA

Regional Hub of Circular Economy is a citizen-oriented, bottom-up economic model based on the Quintuple Helix Model. Lagging regions or municipalities by themselves often lack the resources to make a change. That is why RHCE unites disparate bodies, which pool their resources and funds in order to make a greater regional change.

APPLICATION IN PRACTICE

First Regional Social Hub in Southern Slovakia

The first RHCE is the result of living laboratories and the quadruple helix model bringing together mayors, academics, and entrepreneurs who wished for a change and improvement of their region.

At the time of writing, 7 out of 18 municipalities in the regional action group, totalling 18,000 citizens, are members of of the RHCE.

WHO WE ARE LOOKING FOR

ACADEMICS

Which may offer their scientific expertise, in the realms of design, production, and sustainability in the circular model.

STATE ACTORS

Which can mobilize national and regional action groups to implement circular solutions and induce regional growth, preferably on the bottom-up level.

ENTREPRENEURS

Which have the willingness and the motivation to create new products based on the circular transition.

NGO'S

With whom we can collaborate, work, and disseminate different topics and projects on the European level.
